

Automate your Time Tracking

AI-Powered Time Tracking Built by a Vancouver Lawyer, for Lawyers

The automated time tracking solution you've been searching for finally exists

My Story

The Search

As a practicing lawyer in Vancouver, I spent years searching for a time tracking tool that actually understood the reality of legal work. Every solution I found was either too complex, too simplistic, or required constant manual input that disrupted my workflow. I tried dozens of tools, but nothing captured the nuances of legal practice – the interrupted phone calls, the quick client emails, the research that spans multiple matters.

The Breakthrough

Then AI technology evolved to a point where I realized: I could finally build the tool I'd been searching for. AI could understand context, learn patterns, and automate the tedious parts of time tracking while maintaining the accuracy and detail that legal billing demands. What seemed impossible just a few years ago became not only possible but practical.

The Solution

TimeLawg is the result of that journey. It's built by someone who understands the daily challenges of legal practice because I live them. It's designed to capture every billable moment without interrupting your work. It learns your patterns, understands your matters, and creates accurate time entries automatically. This is the tool I needed – and now it exists.

Features Built for Legal Practice

Every feature designed with the specific needs of lawyers in mind

AI-Powered Context

Understands the nuances of legal work and automatically categorizes activities by matter and client

Automatic Entries

Generates accurate time entries from your computer activity, emails, and calendar events

Recover Lost Time

Capture an average of 2.5 additional billable hours per day that typically go unrecorded

Client Confidential

Built with law society compliance and attorney-client privilege in mind

Real-Time Tracking

Track time as it happens, no need to manually enter time at the end of the day without missing a single minute

Identifies inefficiencies and suggests optimizations

Join the Early Adopters

Be part of shaping the future of legal time tracking

Get in Touch

Interested in automating your time tracking? Let's talk.

e.g., Corporate, Litigation, Family

Message *

Tell me about your current time tracking challenges and what you're looking for...

 Send Message

I typically respond within 24 hours. Your information is kept confidential.

TimeLawg

AI-Powered Time Tracking for Lawyers

Vancouver, BC, Canada

© 2025 TimeLawg. All rights reserved.

Built by a lawyer who understands your challenges